BookBaby, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 213 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. In the near future the world economy hits bottom and doesn t bounce. This is a story about how one community from one segment of the US population who refuses to be overcome. The story is set in Red Bluff, California. It s about a happenstance community of seniors that formed as a by-product of the Federal Real Property Repurposing Act of 2025; that act was one of many knee-jerk legislative actions delivered from a guilt ridden congress in the wake of the Social Security Revision Act of 2025. SSRA-2025 stripped Social Security and Medicare benefit funds to the bone and then transferred them to the states for management and administration. Attracted by the Repurposing Act s newly created affordable housing, seniors from all walks of life found common circumstance and purpose. They tightened their belts, formed mini enterprises, and found new ways to thrive. By 2028 the community was chartered as a cooperative and officially recognized by the State of California as The Red Bluff Senior Project, aka The Block. For the promise of Social Security to be broken the US Treasury had to be bare. Explanation for when, why, and how is provided but it is the backdrop, not the story. The story is about the guile, the smarts, and the hustle from folks that almost forgot they still had it. The story is told by Doug Richards, the narrator and one of the Block s earliest residents and oldest survivors. Richards tells the story of The Block using a compilation of anecdotes and humor to describe the challenges and triumphs; the things he called old glory that were part of Block community living. Richards stories are told with fondness,...
